

David Doyle Biography

Short Bio:

David is Macquarie's Head of Economics and has been covering North America macro for the firm since 2011. His work focuses on structural themes, the economic outlook, and implications for asset allocation. Prior to joining Macquarie he was a management consultant and a buy-side analyst. He is a CFA charter holder and holds a Bachelor of Commerce and a Master's of Science in Managerial Economics.